

Case Study: How OppDrive Delivered 400+ Meetings for a Leading Text Marketing Platform for Golf Courses & Country Clubs

Industry: Golf Course & Country Club Software

Client: A leading text-marketing platform serving golf courses and private clubs

Background

A rapidly growing text-marketing platform serving golf courses and country clubs needed a scalable way to expand its footprint in the golf industry. Their product was resonating with operators, but they lacked consistent outbound motion and internal sales capacity to reliably get in front of decision-makers like General Managers, Directors of Golf, and Membership Directors.

The company partnered with OppDrive to build, manage, and scale a full outbound appointment-setting program focused exclusively on the golf and country club market.

The Challenge

Despite having a strong product and existing customer proof, the company struggled with:

- Limited internal resources to run high-volume, high-quality outbound outreach
- Difficulty reaching General Managers, one of the busiest and hardest-to-engage persona in the golf world
- A need for accurate, targeted contact data on course operators and leadership

They needed a partner who not only understood outbound appointment setting, but one who understood the golf industry and how to reach decision-makers at both public courses and private clubs.
